SCHEDULE CHANGES

Teams Will Be Played At Atlantic City.

HARRISBURG, Pa., June 20.—The Tri-State League will do business without further changes in the circuit, playing both Lancaster and Johnstown teams at Atlantic City. The schedule will be played out without any further alterations. This action was taken at a meeting of the league held here and attended by representatives from all cities of the league.

The transfer of the Altoona team to Reading and that of Lancaster to Atlantic City was ratified, and beginning lantic City was ratified, and beginning today the Lancaster team became officially known as Atlantic City and Attoona was referred to as Reading.

Johnstown will be an orphan team and will play at home if so desired and remain in the league until the close of the season. If found more advantageous to have Johnstown play their home games elsewhere than at Atlantic City, such arrangement may be made Harrisburg and Trenton expressed a preference to play in their respective cities instead of jumping to Atlantic City.

Baltimore C. C. C. to Hold Modified Marathon

BALTIMORE, June 20.-A modified Marathon of ten miles will be held by the Baltimore Cross Country Club during convention week and will be known as the Presidential Marathon. This race is expected to be the largest that has ever been held in the Monumental City, and from present indications will be a big success.

Ten handsome silver cups will be given the first ten men to finish, while there will be fifty medals awarded the next man to finish. As an extra inducement to the Washington athletes, there will be a cup offered to the first out-oftown team to finish, as well as a team trophy.

The date has been set for June the 25th, and will be held in the cool of the afternoon, 5 o'clock. All entrants will be scratch, and the entry fee is 50 cents. Entry blanks may be obtained at The Times office, and they will be received by Chairman Harry Gebb at the Baltimore Cross Country Club, North and Fulton avenues, up to start of race.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., June 20.—Dana J. P. Wingate, '14, has been elected captain of the Harvard varsity baseball nine for next year. Wingate played shortstop this season, being moved from third base in midseason. He was one of the team's best hitters.

Harvard has elected no player not a senior to the baseball captaincy since 1800, when Bill Reid began his two terms, and before that Jimmy Dean was captain in 1896 and 1897.

Senatorial Snapshots

It was a raw decision that prevented the Climbers from winning their eighteenth straight victory.

Harry Rapley, the Climbers' treas-urer, left immediately after the second game for Washington, profoundly dis-gusted at the work of Umpire Egan.

Tom Hughes never pitched better ball in his life than Me did yesterday, and it was sheer misfortune for him to lose the honors in that struggle with the

The Nationals are not a whit down-hearted over their double defeat. They still believe themselves as good a ball club as the Athletics and say they will yet prove it on the field.

Judging from the applause, there must have been a large delegation of fans from the Capital. The bargain day at-traction drew out one of the biggest crowds of the season, too, by the way.

Danny Moeller had an off day with the willow, fanning three times in the first game and twice in the second. His soulmate, "Buzz" Foster, went without a bingle, too, a strange thing for Howard Shanks tested Bris Lord's pegging wing in the seventh inning of the first game when he tried to reach second on Morgan's safe drive to right. He was nailed with feet to spare.

Ray Morgan started a sweet double play in the eighth inning of the first game, when he grabbed Lord's bounce and tagged Coombs on the line and completed & by tossing to Gandil in time to get the fast gardener.

who have been put out of business by the closing at the race tracks have invaded the Polo Grounds, much to the detriment of the national pastime. They have been operating quietly since the season opened, but during the recent visit of the Cubs and Pirates their work became extremely bold.

In a published statement it is said that during the recent series with the Cubs and Pirates two clergymen were compelled to change their seats to avoid hearing loud propositions to gamble Owing to a rule issued by the pelice commissioner, the regular police are not allowed in the grounds. The place is policed by hired men, and they are helpless to act. Not only is there big betting on the result of each game at the Polo Grounds, but also on the probable num-ber of runs and hits, the outs, steals, balls, strikes, and, in fact, every kind of a play that involves chance. The pro-fessional bettors usually sit together or mear enough to one another to sing out wagers that can be heard on all sides. "I'll bet $50 to $100 that Matty wins "I'll bet $50 to $100 that Matty wins if he pitches tomorrow!" comes from a former bookmaker. And so it goes, day after day, with rolls of money flashing and bets recorded in note books without fear or trouble. During the eleven inning game on Monday, with the score tied, so many big wagers were made that it was impossible to count them. The example set by the professionals became infectious and scon there was betting on a small scale

"We'll leave the prices to the overnight quotatioms," is a frequent cry, meaning that bets made on the results of outside games must be governed by odds printed the next morning.
